MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

GREELY AT THE COLLEGE.—A special correspondent of the Bulletin writing from Boston, July 6th, says: "Wednesday was a great day at the College, designated the Greeley Day, in honor of the sage of Chappaqua. Immense crowds of people early in the afternoon began to wend their way towards the College building, and by 3 P. M. it was estimated that probably about 25,000 people in the building. Entering with his party by the way of the Press headquarters, he found about one hundred correspondents busy at work. His cordial welcome in loud cheers and other expressions of respect. He then mounted a rostrum and made a modest speech to the Press representatives, during which he was frequently applauded. This was followed by handshaking and mutually pleasant greetings, after which he was conducted to the main hall. As he entered the immense auditorium, he received a tremendous ovation, and overhanging welcome from the vast audience. Cheers of scores of thousands rang through the hall, and the waving of the ladies' handkerchiefs made an appearance. The speaker, dressed in a dark suit, and wearing a white necktie, included some very beautiful music, among which were songs by Madame Letour, several of Strauss's waltzes and splendid performances of the English, French, and German units, interspersed with grand choruses by the 20,000 voices. All passed off with success, and at times the enthusiasm was intense. The distinguished visitor was very much pleased with the whole performance, and especially so with the "Anvil Chorus." Mr. Greeley was entertained at a Corporation banquet in the evening, and returned on Sunday to New York.

RICH GOLD DISCOVERY IN OREGON. The Mountain Sentinel (Oregon) says: Mr. A. H. Greer, a resident of Baker County, after having spent some time in that county, has just been rewarded with an unparalleled success. Some time ago he discovered a quartz vein, which undoubtedly is the richest yet found in the county. In brief, the ordinary quartz from the lode yields $500 to the ton, but it is the pockets in the same where the richest comes in. In one pocket he secured $10,000 of the precious stuff in four days, and others have been struck much richer. Mr. Greer, a reliable gentleman of Auburn, visited the mines and stated to our informant, Mr. John Howard, that he saw in the pocket numberless nuggets as large as a man's fist. Mr. Greer is known in this community to be a man of truthfulness and not addicted to exaggeration. While he has not yet employed a quantity of his mine, and no person but those who well and favorably known can even visit it. Mr. Greer states positively that he would not in any circumstances pick up a fortune in nuggets from the pocket alluded to. In consequence of this extraordinary discovery, property in the town of Auburn has taken a sudden rise, and lots and houses which a week ago could have been bought for a song, have quadrupled in price. We verily believe that other discoveries and rich veins will soon be made in that vicinity, and the "rich man" and "poor man" of the same opinion. P. S.—We learn that Captain J. C. Ainsworth, of Portland, is the principal owner (and capitalist) interested in the lode.

A CITY OF WOMEN.—Mrs. Leonovs, in her lecture on Slaves told the following: The central part of the city of Bangkok, Siam, is devoted exclusively to the residence of nine thousand women, among whom no man but the King may enter. The inhabitants of this inner city are the thousands of women of the royal harem, and some eight thousand more, who are soldiers, artificers and slaves. This little world is ruled by women as magistrates who administer the law of the kingdom. There is no appeal from their decisions. Prisoners are arrested by sheriffs of their own sex. It is necessary to chain them. It is done by blacksmiths of their own sex. If a disturbance arises, it is suppressed by a force of five hundred Amazons, trained from infancy to the use of sword and spear. Meanwhile the slave women carry on a variety of manufactures, or go outside the walls to till the fields. The women of high birth are "sealed" to the King; the slave women may marry, but their husbands dwell outside the walls. The children of boys are banished from the city or women at 15 years old; only the girls remain. All the Oriental distinctions of rank are scrupulously observed in this strange realm, except that the magistrates are chosen by the women, and the slaves are of their own sex. Mrs. Leonovs speaks with great reverence of the woman who was Chief Justice, when she lived in Bangkok, and tells some remarkable anecdotes of the courage with which she enforced justice against offenders far superior to herself in social rank.

JOSEPH PULTZER writes to the New York Tribune to say: "Every single German Republican daily (except one) that supported the principles of the liberal movement, was invited to the Cincinnati Convention, now supports Horace Greeley. In Iowa, every single German paper (except one) has come out for Greeley, and the same is opposed to both Grant and Greeley. So in the great State of Illinois, where all the German papers of such centers of German population as Chicago, Quincy, Belleville, Alton, Peoria, Springfield, etc., advocate Mr. Greeley's election, with but a solitary (collector's) exception. The Pittsburg Volksblatt never faltered in the support of the Liberal ticket, and the Westliche Post (organ of Carl Schurz), in St. Louis, was never more earnest and outspoken in the good cause than now."
